Suppliers Code of Conduct
- the starting point for responsible supplier management

We, as IT professionals has a noticeable responsibility of establishing ethical guidance. We are accepting that we have an obligation to our profession and the communities we serve, and do hereby commit ourselves to the highest ethical and professional conduct and therefore - and naturally - agree to reject bribery in all its forms.

We, at Fischer & Kerrn are the starting point for a responsible supplier management. Consequently we only wish to collaborate with suppliers who obtain a comparable high level of social-, environmental-, and anti-corruption responsibility. Fischer & Kerrn are dedicated to ensuring that working conditions in our supply chain are safe, that workers are treated with respect and dignity (based on the public regulations regarding Human Rights), and that manufacturing processes are environmentally responsible. We are very aware that we can contribute to human rights including labor rights in general by suppliers e.g. via purchasing practices. Therefore, Fischer & Kerrn will habitually evaluate any adverse impacts it may cause or contribute to through its purchasing, compliance and other supply chain practices – and expect our collaborators to possess and live by a sustainable Code of Conduct as we do.

Fischer & Kerrn only wish to collaborate with suppliers who follow our Suppliers Code of Conduct. Thus, we expect them to – at any time – manage and control adverse impacts on human rights including child labor and labor rights in general. We furthermore rely on our suppliers and collaborators to have transparent goals regarding environmental and anti-corruption ethics. Failure to do so may affect the future ability of a supplier to cooperate with Fischer & Kerrn.

The terms of the present Suppliers Code of Conduct applies to all of our collaborators and suppliers and it is their responsibility to ensure that the terms of this Conduct are complied. They are expected to – at any time – cooperate in answering further questions regarding work processes and finally forming systems to cope with adverse impacts on human rights including labor rights, environmental and anti-corruption principles.
